USPS TAKES AWARD FOR INTERNET OFFERINGS

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The U.S. Postal Service has received the e-Gov 2003 Explorer Award for exceptional delivery of government services through its Internet Channel, www.usps.com. In selecting from among 252 nominated agencies, e-Gov 2003 (www.e-gov.com) – nationally known for evaluating government web sites - recognized the Postal Service as an industry leader in technologic innovations.

These innovations include the many products and service offerings available on www.usps.com such as Click-N-Ship™, NetPost Mailing Online, Premium Postcards and USPS Online Payment Services™ Business Edition.

Jane Langdon, manager of usps.com for the U.S. Postal Service, accepted the award on behalf of the organization. "I'm delighted that the enhanced features of our access channel merit this recognition," said Langdon. "This award underscores what our customers are telling us by increasing their use of our online products and services in their business mailing."

USPS.com was on exhibit at the e-Gov 2003 Conference and Exposition Government Solutions Center in Washington D.C. where the award was given. For more information, visit www.usps.com.
